Over the past four years, Team WearRed has donated over $100,000 to local families who are affected by Congenital Heart Defects. CHD is the number one birth defect in the United States, and is grossly underfunded, and there is lack of awareness to such a prominent health defect. Team WearRed works together to bring the Heart Community together through fundraising and fun, family events, and raises funds to help our local friends, family and neighbors. The financial burden of CHD could become a large one, with most children spending extended time in the hospital for multiple operations and procedures, and lifelong medicine bills. There is no cure to CHD, and these Warriors will be affected for their entire life with the disease...help us ease the burden on these families, and these Warriors by support our organization.
